specialised integration services

When the only economic certainty is one of economic uncertainty, businesses across the UK are asking their IT departments to scale back expenditure in order to help conserve cash. This means that transformational SAP projects are being mothballed, new equipment expenditure is frozen and all service and maintenance costs are being heavily scrutinised for both necessity and value.

In order to circumvent the need to invest in transformational SAP projects at such an uncertain time, a viable and cost effective alternative is to integrate SAP with other systems across your business. This allows you to fulfil three essential business mandates:

- Improved automation of existing business processes – reducing the need for additional headcount
- Significant process efficiencies – allowing for a faster reaction to changing market conditions.
- A realisation of substantial cost savings – make better, more prudent use of your IT budget.

Focused, experienced integration specialists:

It is rare to find a company where every business process is handled by SAP and, recognising the need for easy integration, SAP provides a range of solutions within its NetWeaver suite.

Invenio has a specialist team for integration - and can offer services that cover SAP's PI (Process Integrator – formerly known as XI), BAPI and ABAP toolsets to write custom interfaces to external systems.

We also have a dedicated team of Web-Dynpro developers who can connect your SAP system with external business applications to provide you with an Enterprise SOA based composite business process platform.

There are countless ways in which you can integrate your SAP application. Just a few examples of SAP integration projects include:

- Third-party CRM systems
- Mid-tier financial accounting systems typically found at subsidiary level including MS Dynamics NAV, Infor SunSystems and Sage Enterprise.
- Legacy, bespoke and custom applications.
- "SAP to SAP" integration projects including SAP R3/ERP with SAP Business All in One and SAP Business One throughout your business ecosystem.

The benefits of SAP integration are many and the following can be expected from a typical project:

- A significant reduction in data handling and processing requirements.
- Bi-directional information sharing leading to much improved data accuracy and consistency.
- Faster, integrated reporting and analysis.
- Improved ability to share real-time business information across the extended enterprise
- Faster delivery of essential group financial information
- Better defined global business processes enabling the adoption of a set of corporate
